Dame la mano goes in deep into the ketamera philosophy. On the disc, besides the expected pop, flamenco and blues there are also certain teases with hip hop and house. For the most part Dame la mano is composed of a trio with Juan and Josemi on guitars and Antonio on vocals. The album is titled after a tango in a villancico style. There are balads like Parar el tiempo and Como las mareas with lyrics by Jorge Drexler.

This special edition includes a DVD which gather images of the Habichuela family in a flamenco party with memorable artists like Las Chamorro, Niña Pastori, Rosario Flores and others.
