The Miguel Campello's guys new album, the third one in "El Bicho"'s musical carrier, two years after their last album "El Bicho II".

This album bring closer flamenco to rock "cañi-levantino".

El Bicho VII is a tribute to this magical number and to the musicians of the group.

On this album, these guys continue to move Deep Purple or Led Zeppelin to the flamenco size and always in a particular way. The first single "Los Rokipandis" talk about some friends who usually stay together doing nothing.

The number VII is a tribute to the seven musicians, even if lately there is a number eight, Mario, keyboard. Fifteen songs and one contribution of "Bebe" for "Ropa Tendía".
